TSS 2.0
ARE YOU READY?

Get ready for TSS 2.0

20 October is nearly here.

From 20 October, all new movements will need to go through TSS 2.0, with TSS 1.0 remaining available only to complete movements already in progress.

So, how will you manage your movements going forward?

Don't forget what's already in progress

Your existing declarations won't just disappear.

Review any outstanding Supplementary Declarations in TSS 1.0 and ensure you have a plan to complete them by their respective deadlines.

The Assisted Completion Service (ACS) has ended.

Your SUPPDEC support doesn't have to.

Our SUPPDEC Support Service (SSS) is here to assist you. If you've used ACS in the past three years, you'll be familiar with our expert customs team, who can help you complete your TSS 1.0 declarations and support your transition to TSS 2.0.

The system may change

Your customs responsibility doesn't.

No matter which system you use to submit declarations, having the right customs knowledge is essential to correctly manage classification, origin, valuation and risk.

So, are you ready?

TSS 2.0 is only one part of the change.

TSS 2.0 changes how information is managed and submitted, while keeping the customs framework intact. Ensure you have the information and processes needed for classification, origin, valuation, and risk assessment.

So, are you ready?

New movements must be filed through TSS 2.0 from 20 October 2026.

Get your account set up, test the new platform, review your outstanding SUPPDECs, and make sure you have a plan for managing declarations going forward.
